Free initial consultation to discuss your case and options
Speak directly to a specialist family law barrister without the need to use a solicitor. Registered as a Direct Access barrister and holding the right to conduct litigation means we can support you with a professional and seamless personal service from start to finish. We offer a fixed fee initial consultation, all the services a solicitor provides, plus more, tailor made for your case. As much or as little intervention as you wish from us. No need to meet face to face if that is your preference. A blend of fixed fee and hourly rates service packages are offered to cover both the basic and more complex components of cases, so you can budget and know the costs in advance. Evening and weekend appointments available on request.
